

1. Lay pellets side by side in a tray that will hold water. Fill tray with warm water until pellets are covered and set aside for a few minutes.
2. Pellets will expand up to seven times their original height. If pellets haven't fully expanded wait a few more minutes or add more water.
3. Once pellets have fully expanded drain any excess water from your tray and your pellets are now ready for your seeds.
4. Peel back the top mesh on the pellet to expose the peat. Place seeds onto pellet and gently press.
