

UNLOCK THE MAGIC

SUMMER FUN FOR
ALL AGES THROUGH JULY 31

JOKES

What do you call a dog that can do magic tricks?
A labracadabrador

What do you call an owl who does magic tricks?
Hootdini

How did the magician do magic with chocolate?
He had Twix up his sleeve

Why are magician assistants hard to find?
They're highly sawed after

Why was the magician worried about his garden?
He'd been going through a dry spell

How can you tell a magician is angry?
When he pulls his hare out

How many magicians does it take to change a light bulb?
Depends on what you want to change it into

FUN FACTS

Magic goes by many names, including hocus pocus and prestidigitation.

The earliest magicians were thought to have supernatural powers.

Many magicians prefer the term "illusionist" because they perform skillful deceptions.

A magician's success lies in their ability to direct the audience's focus to where they want it to be.

The earliest recorded magicians date back to ancient Egypt, ancient Rome, and ancient Greece.

Harry Houdini, David Copperfield, Penn and Teller, and David Blane are famous magicians.

Charles Dickens was an amateur magician.

English spy and thriller novelist John Gardner (of James Bond continuation novels) was a professional magician before becoming an author.

It's illegal in Queensland, Australia, to own a pet rabbit unless you are a magician.